

THE WARDROBE

I really did look at hundreds of visuals and I have seen so many flowing dresses with long tails floating into the wind that I felt... well... let's do it differently. I must have come across literally dozens of them. I am not saying we should discard it but perhaps consider a more modern approach. Please take a look at these initial proposals and tell me what you think.

