

LAST FIRST WORDS

As you can see I have spent most of the little time I had researching and finding interesting visual/conceptual approaches rather than playing with words. I could have used as most a ghost writer but decided in the interest of time to write a few initial ideas myself.

It is indeed a place to start and let's discuss it to take it to the next level and craft a wonderful film together.

Thank you for having thought of me this time again.

Olivier Venturini

